"There's a saying coach Hewitt told me that I live by every day to better my game and make me work harder: 'What you feel and what is real sometimes isn't always the same thing.' I take that as sometimes you feel like you had a good game or you had a good practice, but in reality, you didn't. So, you have to work yourself that much harder and give that much more effort to make sure you're really doing what you feel." – S Will Hill III
