GAME DAY

Pat Moriarty, the team's vice president of football administration, has been a key part of the franchise since 1994. A longtime member of the Ravens' personnel staff, Moriarty was one of the NFL's original capologists. He is responsible for the management and strategic planning of the Ravens' salary cap. Moriarty's NFL career began as a rookie free agent RB for the Browns in 1979. The Cleveland native negotiates all of the Ravens' player contracts, oversees salary cap administration, roster management and the day-to-day operations of the player personnel department. Moriarty is the key liaison with the NFL Management Council and Players Association. Over the course of 18 years, Moriarty has negotiated player contracts totaling over $1 billion. He has negotiated contracts for 18 Ravens first-round draft choices, as well as numerous free agents. He also analyzes draft-day trades during the NFL selection process each spring. Moriarty works closely with GM Ozzie Newsome in many areas, including helping to coordinate the budgets of the scouting, coaching, equipment, football video, training, and strength and conditioning departments. In 2008, Moriarty was part of an eight-member committee to select head coach John Harbaugh.

"Pat is an 'impact player' in our organization. He is thorough and sound, plus creative in the structure of contracts. He has a working knowledge of every team's salary cap structure and knows the ins and outs of working with the league office. His management of our cap helped us win the Super Bowl in 2000."
 - GM/Exec. VP Ozzie Newsome

the confines of the salary cap. 1996: When the franchise moved to Baltimore, Moriarty was named the organization's chief financial officer.

1994-95: (with Cleveland) Joined the Browns' front office in 1994 as the director of business operations.

1982-93: Was involved in commercial banking in the Cleveland area. 1988-93: Worked for Key Bank in Cleveland in the corporate lending division.
