TED MONACHINO LINEBACKERS COACH

COLLEGE: MISSOURI
BORN: 10/15/66, COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA
EXP. (NFL/RAVENS): 10/6

Ted Monachino (mah-nah-KEY-no) is in his sixth season working with the Ravens' linebackers. His group has been a strength of Baltimore's defensive unit since he joined the team in 2010. Monachino helped lead six-time Pro Bowl OLB Terrell Suggs to the 2011 NFL Defensive Player of the Year award, and in 2014, coached OLB Elvis Dumervil, who set a franchise record with 17 sacks. That season, Dumervil and Suggs (12) combined to produce the most sacks (29) among NFL duos. Impressively, over the past two years (2013-14), "Sizzle" and "Doom" have combined to register 38.5 sacks. Another standout player Monachino has helped mentor is LB C.J. Mosley, who in 2014 became the first rookie in Ravens history to earn Pro Bowl honors. Mosley and veteran LB Daryl Smith were two of only three NFL defenders to tally at least 125 tackles, an INT, a sack, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble in 2014. During the Ravens' 2012 Super Bowl-winning campaign, the Ravens' defense was stout in the red zone, allowing the NFL's second-best TD efficiency rating (43.4%). Although mired with injuries to key players (LBs Ray Lewis and Suggs), the 2012 unit also allowed the NFL's second-fewest (tied, Sea.) passing TDs (15). Baltimore recorded an AFC-high 48 sacks (tied for third in the NFL) in 2011, the fourth most in team history. The Ravens' defense ranked third in points allowed for four-straight seasons (2008-11), also finishing in the Top 5 in rushing defense in Monachino's first two seasons (2010-11) with the club. Monachino arrived in Baltimore after four years (2006-09) coaching Jacksonville's defensive line, his first NFL coaching stint. Before entering the NFL, Monachino coached in the collegiate ranks, including at Arizona State, helping guide Suggs, the former Sun Devil, during his All-American and record-setting career.

2010-14: (with Baltimore) 2014: Led by OLB Terrell Suggs and 2014 Pro Bowl selections OLB Elvis Dumervil and rookie LB C.J. Mosley, Baltimore racked up the NFL's second-most sacks (49, tied with Philly), boasted the No. 2 red zone defense and allowed the fourth-fewest rushing yards per game (88.3)...Dumervil (a franchise-record 17 sacks) and Suggs (12) combined to produce the most QB drops (29) among NFL duos...Mosley was the NFL's only player to post at least 125 tackles, 3 sacks and 2 INTs, while his 129 tackles ranked eighth in the NFL and first among all rookies. 2013: Earning his sixth Pro Bowl honor, Suggs (10) combined with Dumervil (9.5) to produce 19.5 sacks, and LB Daryl Smith was one of just three NFL defenders with at least 100 tackles, 5 sacks and 3 INTs (his 123 tackles led the Ravens)...Smith's 19 PD set a team record by a LB, breaking Ray Lewis' mark of 13 in 2003...The defense, which endured the departure of stalwarts Lewis (retired) and S Ed Reed (free agent), ranked third in third-down defense (33.5%). 2012: Promoted to linebackers coach...Ravens were the NFL's No. 2 red zone defense, allowing a 43.4% TD efficiency mark, also finishing No. 2 (tied, Sea.) in fewest passing TDs (15) permitted...Although the unit was mired by injuries to key players (including LBs Lewis and Suggs), the "D" finished strong (in final six weeks, allowing NFL's fourth-fewest yards per game - 299.0) en route to the Super Bowl XLVII victory. 2011: The Ravens' defense allowed the league's third-fewest points (16.6 ppg) for the fourth-straight year (tying an NFL record for finishing in the Top 3) and finished with the league's second-fewest rushing yards allowed (92.6 ypg)...Guided the outside linebackers, helping Suggs earn the Associated Press Defensive Player of the Year award and his fifth Pro Bowl nod...Suggs was
