SUPER BOWL XLVII CHAMPIONS (2012)

BALTIMORE (1-4) AT SAN FRANCISCO (1-4)

SUNDAY, OCT. 18, 2015 • 4:25 P.M. ET • LEVI'S STADIUM (68,500)

JUST THE FACTS

- The Baltimore Ravens, who are 1-4 for the first time in franchise history, face the San Francisco 49ers (also 1-4) at Levi's Stadium on Oct. 18. Kickoff for this contest, which marks the Ravens' fourth road game in six weeks (and third in the country's western half), is set for 4:25 p.m. ET.
- The Ravens are looking to bounce back from a 33-30 overtime defeat to Cleveland last Sunday (Oct. 11). For the fourth time this season – all defeats – the Ravens lost a second-half lead, this time falling to the visiting Browns, who were led by QB Josh McCown's franchise-record 457 passing yards. Baltimore jumped out to a 14-3 first-quarter lead, but eventually fell in OT after Cleveland racked up 505 yards of total offense.
- The Ravens' offense performed well against the Browns, registering 377 yards, including 181 rushing. RB Justin Forsett led the charge, gaining 121 ground yards and 1 TD on 21 carries. Forsett also had 4 catches for 49 yards, producing the second-most yards from scrimmage (170) of his career. QB Joe Flacco ran for 2 TDs and threw another (8 yards to FB Kyle Juszczyk), but it wasn't enough to overcome Baltimore's 12 penalties and the Browns' persistent playmaking. In the absence of WR Steve Smith Sr. (back), WR Kamar Aiken produced 4 catches for 78 yards, all in the first half.
- Following Sunday's battle in San Francisco, the Ravens head back out west again when they play at Arizona on Monday Night Football (Oct. 26). (Five of Baltimore's first seven games this season were scheduled on the road, with the Ravens already dropping close contests at Denver and at Oakland in Weeks 1-2). After Arizona, the Ravens will play six of their final nine games in Baltimore.
- The Ravens currently stand fourth in their division, as does San Francisco, which has dropped four-straight games, including a tight 30-27 contest at the New York Giants last Sunday night.

COACH HARBS SAYS

"The challenge is always to win the next game no matter what your record is. That's our sole focus, finding a way to win in San Francisco. We'll practice, we'll compete, and we will continue to fight. We will expect to win the next time we play. That's how we approach every game. We have to find ways to get better. That includes coaching and players."

NOTE THE QUOTE

QB JOE FLACCO ON THE RAVENS' 1-4 RECORD

"The record speaks for itself and what kind of challenge it is. We haven't been in this position before, so I can't speak from experience, but it's not going to be easy. But, there's no better guys for it than the guys in [our] locker room. We've got to rally together and start putting everything together and playing fundamental football and being where we're supposed to be, not having bad penalties that really detract from winning the football game. If we can do that, we have a lot to look forward to. But you've got to take it one game at a time. It's not the easiest thing to do in this situation, but it's all you can do."

SPOTLIGHT: DARYL SMITH

Pos: LB Ht: 6-2 Wt: 250 Exp. (NFL/Ravens): 12/3
College: Georgia Tech Hometown: Albany, GA

Many teammates and coaches have described you as an "unsung hero." What do you think about that? "I don't read much into it. I take all of it with a grain of salt and keep working. I try to go out and get better every day, and that's pretty much how I look at it."

After 12 seasons in the NFL, how do you define success? "Winning ball games, and at the end of the day, winning championships. That's one of the reasons why I [came to Baltimore]. There are a lot of reasons why I came here, but this is a winning organization, and they just do everything the right way."

What do you think is the most difficult position to play in all of sports? "Quarterback. It's just a lot that you have to do. You have to know a lot – know what the defense is trying to do to you and know what you're trying to do to the defense. You have to think about where they may be blitzing from and where they may not be blitzing. You have to control the offense. The quarterback is just so important to a team. If you have a good quarterback, you always have a chance to win ball games."

What was your first job as a teenager? "I did some construction work, and that was in the summertime; it was hard. It was very hot. I just remember being out there for what seemed like forever doing little tedious stuff to a building's foundation. But it was hard, and I just remember thinking, 'I don't want to do construction work.' It really made me focus on my schoolwork."

If you could go back in time and give advice to yourself as a rookie, what would it be? "I guess it would be some of the same things I tell the young guys about taking care of their bodies and how to watch film. Really, I just wish I would have known what I know now. [Learning] some of that is just living through life and experiencing and years of playing football and seeing certain plays."

What is your favorite football memory? "Winning a high school championship my junior year. I remember it like yesterday."

What is your favorite memory as a Raven? "Going to the playoffs last year. That's my favorite memory so far – going to Pittsburgh, the first playoff game and then winning. I hadn't been to the playoffs since 2007. That has definitely been my favorite time."

If you were on an island and could only bring three things – besides food and water – what would they be? "My wife, my kids and a TV."

If you could sing one song on American Idol, what would it be? "Something by Luther Vandross."

QUOTH THE RAVENS

FOOTBALL

“[Joe] Flacco says you can’t use injuries as an excuse. It’s just inexcusable not to recognize this isn’t the Ravens team that general manager Ozzie Newsome and coach John Harbaugh envisioned putting on the field. To say injuries have decimated this team is an understatement. The number of wounded Ravens rivals an episode of ‘The Walking Dead.’”

- ESPN.com’s Jamison Hensley on the Ravens’ injury issues

LB C.J. Mosley on the Ravens’ 1-4 record:

“We’re disappointed, because we know what kind of team we are. We know how we work, and we’re definitely better than 1-4. We’ve just got to put our foot down and prove that. We play hard, but like I said, we’ve just got to finish as a team.”

DT Timmy Jernigan on the multitude of injuries:

“At the end of the day, everybody gets paid. Just because you’re second or third on the depth chart, that doesn’t mean that you don’t have expectations for you that are high. Your rank on the depth chart doesn’t matter. You have to be ready to go.”

FB Kyle Juszczyk on the Ravens’ being resilient and how the team reacts to being 1-4.

“I think we will react the same way we did when we were 0-3. We’re a resilient team. We’re going to show up on Tuesday and just try and get better. That’s really all we can focus on, just getting better every day.”

CB Jimmy Smith on how to move forward from this position:

“We’ve got to win more games. We’ve got another game next week; we don’t have time to sit and sulk about our problems. What we’ve got to do is go back, get to practicing hard, figure out what we need to do to get better in those situations and come out on top this next game. It’s not a lot of time to sit and worry about being 1-4, even though it’s hard to look past. It’s very hard to look past, but we have another game. Every game for us from now on, even this one [vs. Cleveland], is a playoff game. We have to take that mentality for the next [12] weeks.”

T Eugene Monroe on how the Ravens improve and what the message is going forward:

“Execution, being a more disciplined team, not shooting ourselves in the foot with penalties and things of that nature [and] just grinding for the win. We have the team. We have the guys here to do it, but we have to put it together on Sundays. I don’t think anyone in here thought we’d be where we are. But we’re here, so we’ve got to get ourselves out of it.”

QB Joe Flacco on dealing with injuries to Ravens receivers:

“That’s part of being a leader, being the guy that people look to and making everybody around you better. You can’t go out there and force that. You just have to go play your game and stuff like that will happen. I don’t look at it any other way. I look at it as, just going out there and trying to find a way to get us wins. It’s always been my job to go out there and lead the team and do whatever I have to do to pull us through.”

Former NFL QB Rich Gannon on why offensive coordinator Marc Trestman and QB Joe Flacco make a good pair:

“With Marc, there’s not a lot of ego there. He’s very even keeled. Joe and he have similar personalities. I think Marc is an unselfish guy. He sees the game through the eyes of the quarterback. Marc is not afraid to put the game in the hands of the quarterback.”

WR/RS Jeremy Ross on how the Ravens’ return game can continue to improve with him as the primary returner:

“We just have to stay true to us, making sure that we do what we have to in practice. We have to prepare like we’re going to be an explosive return team. Nothing changes. We just have to be true to us, and if we do that, we’ll be explosive.”

NFL.com’s Bucky Brooks on why DT Brandon Williams is among the league’s best run stuffers:

“It’s uncommon for nose tackles to garner widespread recognition for their efforts on the front line, but Williams has created a buzz in league circles as an emerging force at the point of attack. The 6-foot-1, 335-pounder wreaks havoc with his rugged playing style and explosive power. Williams excels at occupying multiple blockers in the middle, allowing linebackers C.J. Mosley and Daryl Smith to flow freely to the ball.”

BaltimoreRavens.com columnist John Eisenberg on the Ravens’ fighting nature:

“They have a lot of fight in them. A ton of fight. It’s their best quality, and it’s valuable in these wild games [like Baltimore’s OT win at Pittsburgh]. As hard as it is to watch them dig a hole week after week, they keep grinding and usually climb out, leaving the games to be decided by who makes plays in the final minutes, or who makes mistakes.”

LAST WEEK / OPPONENT INFO

LAST WEEK: CLE. 33, BAL. 30 (OT)

For the fourth time this season – all defeats – the Ravens lost a second-half lead, this time losing to the visiting Browns, 33-30, in overtime. It was the third time Baltimore dropped a game in 2015 after earning a fourth-quarter advantage. This was also the Ravens' second-consecutive overtime game, which followed a 23-20 win at Pittsburgh on Oct. 1. Cleveland K Travis Coons' 32-yard field goal at the 6:43 mark of OT gave the Browns the victory at M&T Bank Stadium last Sunday. Coons made all 4 FGs he attempted, but the star of the game was QB Josh McCown, who threw for a Browns' record 457 yards. He completed 36 of 51, including 8 for 139 to TE Gary Barnidge. Barnidge's unusual 18-yard TD catch, which he secured between his legs, gave the visitors a 22-21 edge in the fourth quarter. The Ravens opened the game with a 14-3 lead at the end of the first quarter after QB Joe Flacco (1-yard run) and FB Kyle Juszczyk (8-yard pass from Flacco) scored TDs. Three Coons FGs (43, 43 and 37) brought the Browns within 5 at the half (14-9). Flacco's second 1-yard TD gave the Ravens a 21-9 margin midway through the third quarter. McCown matched that TD with a 10-yard scoring scamper of his own to bring the Browns within 5 (21-16) entering the fourth stanza. After Barnidge's circus TD, the Ravens rebounded to grab a 27-22 lead on RB Justin Forsett's 1-yard TD with 5:56 left in regulation. Cleveland roared right back, taking a 30-27 lead on McCown's 22-yard TD toss to RB Isaiah Crowell. (A McCown-to-WR Andrew Hawkins 2-point conversion provided the 3-point margin with 3:03 left.) K Justin Tucker's 23-yard FG tied the game at 30 at the end of the fourth. Baltimore won the toss and suffered a three-and-out before punting to the Browns. Cleveland's game-winning, 12-play FG drive ended the game. The Browns produced an impressive 505 yards in the contest, while the Ravens gained 377. Forsett led all rushers with 121 yards (21 carries). Flacco finished 19-of-35 for 210 yards and 1 TD.

LAST GAME VS. SAN FRANCISCO

SUPER BOWL XLVII: RAVENS 34, 49ERS 31

Ravens 34, 49ers 31 • Feb. 3, 2013 • New Orleans, LA

After taking an early 28-6 lead, the Baltimore Ravens needed a goal-line stand to clinch their second World Championship title, defeating the San Francisco 49ers, 34-31, in Super Bowl XLVII. The Ravens' defense delivered the critical stand late in the fourth quarter, overcoming a furious second-half comeback and a 34-minute power outage. For the first time in any of the four major pro sports, two head-coaching brothers (John and Jim Harbaugh) faced each other in a championship game. QB Joe Flacco threw 3 TD passes and was named the game's MVP. Following a San Francisco three-and-out, Flacco hit WR Anquan Boldin with a 13-yard TD pass on Baltimore's first drive. Then, on the 49ers' second possession, the Ravens sacked QB Colin Kaepernick on third down, forcing a K David Akers' 36-yard field goal. Flacco's second TD came on a 1-yard toss to TE Dennis Pitta, making the score 14-3. Then, late in the second quarter, Flacco connected for a 56 yard score with WR Jacoby Jones, who secured a long pass, then jumped up and dove into the end zone after eluding two defenders on the way. Akers kicked a second field goal (27 yards) just before the half, making the score 21-6. The second half started with a Jones 108-yard kickoff return for a TD that gave the Ravens a 28-6 lead. Shortly thereafter, half of the stadium lost power, and a 34-minute delay ensued. When play resumed, the 49ers stole the momentum, starting with a 31-yard TD from Kaepernick to WR Michael Crabtree. After a Ravens' three-and-out and a strong punt return by WR Ted Ginn, RB Frank Gore capitalized with a six-yard TD run, making the score 28-20. Following a RB Ray Rice fumble, Akers kicked his third FG (34 yards), but the Ravens answered right back early in the fourth quarter with a K Justin Tucker 19-yard FG, making the score 31-23. The 49ers then drove quickly down the field and scored on a Kaepernick 15-yard run, closing the gap to 31-29 after a failed two-point attempt. Tucker added a 38-yard FG on Baltimore's next possession, making the score 34-29. The Ravens then took a safety following the pivotal goal-line stand and tackled Ginn after a free kick, sealing the victory.

RAVENS WINNING WAYS

SUPER BOWL SEASONS

LB Ray Lewis - 2000
Super Bowl XXXV MVP

In a magnificent effort showcasing thrilling performances by their defense, offense and special teams units, the Baltimore Ravens won Super Bowl XXXV with a 34-7 victory over the New York Giants. Allowing the Giants a meager 152 total net yards, New York's attack crossed midfield just twice, while Baltimore's "D" posted 4 INTs. LB Ray Lewis was named the game's MVP, capping an accolade-filled season in which he was also tabbed the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year.

QB Joe Flacco - 2012
Super Bowl XLVII MVP

Baltimore defeated San Francisco, 34-31, in Super Bowl XLVII, capturing the franchise's second World Championship. After an amazing first-half performance, the Ravens took a commanding 28-6 lead. But following a bizarre, 34-minute power outage that halted play, the 49ers stormed back into contention. Clinging to a 34-29 edge late in the game, the Ravens stood firm on a pivotal goal-line stand, jamming SF on four-straight plays inside the 7-yard line. QB Joe Flacco was named the game's MVP.

In 2014, senior NFL writer Rick Gosselin of The Dallas Morning News ranked the Ravens' special teams unit No. 5 in the league in his annual comprehensive ratings system that is based on 22 categories, assigning points according to each standing — 1 for best, 32 for worst. In 2013, Gosselin also ranked the Ravens' unit No. 5, and in 2012, he awarded them the No. 2 spot (behind Minnesota).

RAVENS THRIVE W/ ROSBURG

Special teams coordinator/associate head coach Jerry Rosburg, a 36-year coaching veteran, has guided a strong special teams group since arriving in Baltimore in 2008.

- Dating back to 2011, Baltimore has 7 total kick return TDs (3 PR & 4 KOR), ranking as the NFL's most.

- In 2014, P Sam Koch produced the NFL's No. 3 gross average (47.4) and No. 1 net average (43.3), setting the Ravens' single-season records for each.

- Pro Bowl K Justin Tucker, who Rosburg scouted and helped sign as a rookie free agent, owns the NFL's second-most FGs (108) since entering the league in 2012. "Tuck" has connected on 108 of 121 FGAs to post an 89.3 success rate, the second-best mark in league history. He was 29-of-34 (84.4%) in 2014, with his 5 misses coming from 54, 54, 55, 57 & 64 (blocked). In 2013, Tucker set franchise records in FGs made (38) and FGs attempted (41). Going 38-of-41 on FGAs, he produced a franchise-record 140 points.

- In 2012's Super Bowl season, the Ravens' ST units excelled. Led by Pro Bowl RS Jacoby Jones, Baltimore ranked first in the NFL in kickoff return average (27.3), also setting a team record. Jones, who became the first player ever to record dual KORs of at least 105 yards in a career, tied for a league-leading 3 kick return TDs (2 KORs & 1 PR) and averaged an NFL-best 30.7 yards per kickoff return. Jones also tied an NFL record for longest KOR in Super Bowl history with his 108-yard KOR-TD. (In 2014's Week 9 game at Pittsburgh, Jones added another 108-yard KOR-TD to his stellar resume and now has 4 total KOR-TDs over 100 yards during his career.)

- Led by Jones, the Ravens owned the NFL's best kickoff return average (28.3) in 2014. (His 30.6 mark stood No. 2 in the league.) Impressively, Baltimore has ranked in the NFL Top 5 in KOR average four times over the past seven seasons.

- Prior to Baltimore, Rosburg built a successful NFL special teams resume with both the Browns (2001-06) and Falcons (2007). Under his leadership, Cleveland's special teams units were consistently ranked among the NFL's best. Over a five-year span (2002-06), the Browns' special teams were ranked as the top NFL unit in Rick Gosselin's annual comprehensive special teams report.

- Four Ravens players have earned Pro Bowl honors while playing for Rosburg: ST Brendon Ayanbadejo (2008), K Billy Cundiff (2010), RS Jacoby Jones (2012) and K Justin Tucker (2013).

RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

CHARLES CARROLL BARRISTER LIBRARY UNVEILING

The Baltimore Ravens unveiled the completion of a library renovation at Charles Carroll Barrister (CCB) Elementary School in Baltimore City on Monday, Oct. 5. The renovation was fully-funded by the Ravens Foundation, which continually works to help make Baltimore a better community. Ravens president Dick Cass and QB Joe Flacco (both pictured below) were joined by CEO of Baltimore City Public Schools Dr. Gregory E. Thornton to highlight the improvements made to the school's library over the past few months. In addition to the renovation project, the school received new books and furniture, including tables, chairs, storage cabinets, shelving and a desk for its new full-time librarian. Each of the 370 students at CCB Elementary School were also given Ravens backpacks and a book to take home.

PLAY 60 CHALLENGE KICKOFF ASSEMBLIES

The Baltimore Ravens kicked off their promotion of the in-school PLAY 60 Challenge this past week, as part of the national NFL PLAY 60 campaign. On Monday, Oct. 5, the Ravens hosted two PLAY 60 Challenge kickoff assemblies, first at Runnymede Elementary School (Westminster, Md.) and then later at Lyons Mill Elementary School (Owings Mills, Md.). WR Kamar Aiken, LS Morgan Cox, P Sam Koch, WR Steve Smith Sr. and DT Brandon Williams (all pictured below) joined Ravens cheerleaders and official mascot Poe in launching this year's program. The Ravens also plan to host a third assembly on Monday, Oct. 12, at General John Stricker Middle School (Dundalk, Md.).

JOHN HARBAUGH'S MONDAY PRESS CONFERENCE: OCT. 12

Opening statement: “Good to see everybody – appreciate you guys being here. Obviously, we face a lot of challenges right now. I believe we’re up to the task, but they’re tough – the things we’re looking at throughout the course of the last five weeks that have tested us, without question. The thing I’m pleased with is the effort, is the competitiveness, the fight, the determination that our guys have shown in every single game. You go back and you watch the tape yesterday, our guys, they battled. We didn’t always play or coach as well as we needed to, but we sure played and coached as hard as we could, and so you start with that. Anytime you have that as a coach, you feel good about that. A couple things I just noted: We have to find a way to finish games. We’ve lost four, close games. And whether that means scoring at the end of the game to extend the lead with a two-point conversion or scoring a touchdown instead of a field goal, it certainly means getting off the field in the fourth quarter when you have the lead. There have been four games where we’ve had the lead in the fourth quarter that we haven’t finished. We’ve had one game where we have, and that’s on us. We have to get the job done there. We have to coach our players at higher levels. It’s an opportunity, when guys go down, for other guys to come in and play. It’s an opportunity they’ve been working for and dreaming of, and all these guys, in our eyes, are capable of playing at the highest level. They’re here for a reason. They’re here because we believe they can play at this level, and it’s our responsibility as coaches to help them realize that dream, to get them to play at that level. And the same thing goes for the guys who are in there right now – the guys who are playing right now. [We have] to get them to play at a consistently high level. You play good defense for two-and-a-half quarters, you play dominant defense for two-and-a-half quarters ... I don’t care who’s in the game, those guys [who] are up who are active – those are guys that have been practicing with us; they should be able to finish the last quarter-and-a-half at that same high level. It’s our responsibility to get them playing consistently in that kind of a fashion. The final point – general point – is what’s in front of us now. The challenge that lies before us is very simply: ‘Go win a game.’ We’re going to go out to San Francisco. We’re going to travel west. It’s going to be a challenge for us. It’s going to be something that’s going to be tough and challenging. It’s a good football team. They have a lot of good players. We know a lot of those guys personally. We practiced against them last year. We know the team well. We have to go find a way to play our best and win the game, and that’s all we need to be thinking about right now, and that’s all we’ll be focusing on.”

According to reports, CB Will Davis is no longer available to you. The fact that he was rather productive in a short time period, does that give you confidence that if you have to bring in somebody from the outside, there is enough quality out there even at this relatively late date? (Joe Platania) “That’s a great point. The injury – just to give you an update on injuries – Will Davis is the one I can confirm. All the other injuries are guys who are getting MRIs and getting looked at right now to determine the extent of the injury, so we’re probably not going to know that until you start seeing the injury reports throughout the course of the week. But, Will – we can confirm – had a torn ACL [anterior cruciate ligament]. He’ll be out for the season, which is tough for him, because he was playing at a really high level. And it does give you confidence that you can find a guy, and it’s not that late. You start getting past this time – close to the midway point – that’s where it kind of dries up on you, but there are some corners out there right now that can play, and we’re looking at those guys, and we have a couple guys on our practice roster, too.”

John, was it the same knee that CB Will Davis suffered an ACL last year, or the other knee? (Luke Jones) “I believe it was the other knee. I can’t confirm that for sure, but I talked to [Will Davis] earlier, and I’m going to say I’m 99 percent [certain] he told me it was the other knee.”

John, do you simply stay the course knowing that you’ve been close in all four of these defeats? Do you simply stay the course and just do some things a little bit better, but nothing drastic in terms of change? (Dave Ginsburg) “We definitely believe in what we’re doing. We definitely have confidence in the players that we have, in the coaches that we have and in the schemes that we’re running. But you also look for ways to improve and get better, so we’re looking at schemes. We’re looking at things that we can teach a little bit differently, [like] the way we’re playing a technique on the defensive line or the way we’re playing a technique in the back end. But more importantly, we want to play the things right all the time. We want to chase perfection in what we’re doing, and that’s the thing we haven’t done. [We want to] come up with a few ideas, too. Let’s come up with some ideas where we can score a few more points, get a few more first downs. We have to be better on third down on both sides. We have to be better in the red zone on both sides, and we have to find ways to do that.”

John, when you sit in the film room – you watch it with the players or with the coaches – and you see some of the same mistakes again and again in penalties that, again, you’ve called head-scratchers, what do you say amongst the players, amongst the coaches, without giving away too much? I don’t know if the word is anger, but is that the most frustrating part for you, just seeing the repeated mistakes? (Jerry Coleman) “The gamut of emotions definitely runs in a meeting room – there’s no doubt – or when you talk to guys one-on-one. It’s a human endeavor. You go from right to left all the way across the spectrum. It’s all part of it. And guys get mad at themselves. Guys get frustrated with themselves, but those are things that can be corrected. You can’t just throw up your hands and say, ‘Hey, we can’t do this right.’ We can do this right, and we’re going to do it right. I told them in the locker room last night, I said, ‘We’re going to play the way we play. We know what it looks like. We all understand. We have a vivid picture about the way we expect to play here.’ And every guy in that room understands it – coach and player. We’re going to play that way. No matter how long it takes, we’re going to play that way. No matter who it takes, we’re going to play that way.”

John, you mentioned the effort that you’re pleased with. It seems like – on the defensive side – tackling has been an issue mostly. Can you put your finger on why – if you’re getting effort – why that seems to have been such an issue this year? (Cliff Brown) “Let me stick to the last game. I think the last game is more important. We had two or three plays where we missed some big tackles. The touchdown run comes vividly to mind. We had a couple missed tackles. Two of our best players missed tackles. So, running to the ball, keeping it in front [is important]. But to me, the bigger picture there is the number of plays that we’re on the field. We were on the field for 90 plays on defense. When you’re on the field for 90 plays, there’s going to be an accumulated number of missed tackles and plays that those guys make, because the odds are against you. You could be playing half that many plays if you play great defense, and that comes back to getting off the field on third down. We have not gotten off the field on third down. You have to get off the field on third down. And a number of those third downs are third-and-longs. So, they’re converting third-and-longs? We’re doing the job on first and second down and not getting off the field on third down? That has to change. If we do that – if we’re off the field – then you’re going to see fewer missed tackles, you’re going to see fewer big plays, and those things aren’t going to happen as often.”

John, so you’re, defensively, to try to fix what ... You’re going to look at everything, right? And that includes some free agents at different positions and some other guys available? (Jeff Zrebiec) “I don’t know about free agents, what that means. You’re talking about guys on the street?” (Reporter: “For cornerbacks and just in evaluating your personnel this week, especially with all the injuries you’ve had?”) “Yes, we do that every week. We have a meeting every Thursday with the scouts where I meet with some of the scouts, and we talk about every player that’s available to one degree or another and how they could fit us. We’ll continue to do that. Obviously, it takes a heightened emphasis with our situation this week.”

And was RB Lorenzo Taliaferro [being inactive against Cleveland] more of a numbers issue? (Jeff Zrebiec) “No, he [Lorenzo Taliaferro] has a foot injury.” (Reporter: “OK, so that was more of an injury issue?”) “Right.”

T Eugene Monroe returned this past week. Can you just talk about what you saw from him and from the offensive line in yesterday’s game? (Ryan Mink) “I thought the offensive line played well overall. Eugene [Monroe] played well overall. They did a good job. There weren’t too many mistakes. There [were] a couple times we ... From a technique standpoint, we certainly can improve and be better. There are also times we can put them in better situations in terms of when we’re running the ball and when we’re throwing the ball against fronts and things like that, that we’re looking at very hard. I thought we put ourselves in some really good situations, as far as the way we called the game, where we had some looks where we decided to change a play here or there and get into a better play. And we got into some really good looks, and you saw those plays go really well. But the offensive line is where we start – between Joe [Flacco] and the offensive line.”

John, did you like what you saw from WR Jeremy Ross as a returner, and would you like to see, maybe, him get involved a little more as a receiver? I think he was on the field seven or eight plays and had two catches. (Luke Jones) “Well, yes. He’s a good receiver, and – how much he gets on the field – I don’t see any reason why he wouldn’t continue to expand his role. He’s a good receiver, and he has done a nice job with the return game. Special teams played very well. In a lot of ways, special teams kept us in there and gave us a chance to win the game. We flipped field position two or three times down the stretch in our special teams game. So, we have to keep building on that. Those guys did a good job against a really good unit.”

Another guy – DE Lawrence Guy – can you talk about the way he played yesterday and has played stepping in for DE Chris Canty? And once Chris comes back to the lineup, is it going to be a challenge to see who’s going to get more snaps there or starts there between he and Guy, since he’s played so well? (Ryan Mink) “D-line, you rotate guys. So, they’ll both play a ton when Chris [Canty] comes back, but Lawrence [Guy] has played really well. He’s physical, rushes the passer – had a couple sacks, pressured the quarterback – had the one [roughing the passer] penalty, unfortunately. We’re going to try to figure out how to coach that differently somehow. When the league can explain to us what they want, we’ll get it coached differently. We’ll do a better job of that somehow. We’ll find a way. And yes, he played well.”

John, when teams get off to bad starts, fans always want change; they’re reactionary. Are you considering any changes as far as coaching staff or anything along those lines? (Jamison Hensley) “No. No way. No, coaches are doing a good job. We just have to collectively find a way to finish games and get the job done. We have tough challenges that we’re facing, but we have just the men for the job right here.”

The effort that you talked about and were encouraged about, does that give you confidence that these guys are not frustrated and will respond to the challenge that they face in front of them? (David Ginsburg) “I don’t doubt our character. I don’t doubt that our guys are going to play to the level of expectation that the Ravens expect. That’s just not even going to be an option, and like I said, we have just the men for the job that way. We have a high-character bunch of guys, have a lot of heart [and] love to play. We don’t need to play harder; we need to play better. We don’t need to coach harder; we need to coach better. And we have to find a way to make the difference. It’s making plays. It’s calling plays that give guys a chance to make plays in critical situations that get you over the hump. We’ve done it one game, we had a chance to do it in four other games, and we need to do it more often.”

This team talked – you talked – about having championship aspirations. You felt like you had the personnel, especially coming off last year. You haven’t been in this position before at 1-4. How do you keep the guys motivated, and do you still talk – think – about the postseason? Or is that just “win the next game,” and that’s down the line? (Jerry Coleman) “The fact is that it’s always down the line. The aspiration, the end goal, is always going to be there. It’s not going anywhere. But no matter what your record is, you’re always talking about the next game. That’s the same. You might have asked that same question when we had a 4-1 record at some point in time, and I’m sure I answered it the same way. You have to be 1-0 this week. That’s what you need to do. That’s what we’re striving to be. Motivation will not be a problem; our guys are motivated.” (Reporter: “I was just going by history and the percentages that if you start 1-4 – you’ve probably seen that – how rare it is for a team to make it to the postseason. You would have to defy the odds.”) “We’re up for the challenge. You don’t think we can do it?” (Reporter: “Let’s watch them play it out.”) “There you go. You answered my question. Thanks. That’s good.”

John, I don’t know if you expect WR Steve Smith Sr. back this week, but wide receivers had a better first half than second half. Is that something you just want to have them build on, that first half, moving forward? (Jon Meoli) “Yes, we want to play well. We want to play well [in the] first half, second half, every half. Some halves are going to be better throwing the ball, some halves are going to be better running the ball, but we want to be effective every single play, every single series. We don’t want to be walking off the field in any series without points. When we go three-and-out, that’s really frustrating. So, we want all those guys to play well.”

John, I know you’ve been asked a lot about the effect of injuries on the team’s performance, but what about the effect on the roster flexibility in general when you have a bunch of guys who may have a couple-week injuries or are kind of week-to-week? Does that make it really tough to assemble the best possible roster? (Jeff Zrebiec) “If you have healthy scratches, obviously, you’re choosing from your 53 [players] to get your best 46 for that game based on who you’re playing. So, you can make some choices based on matchups and things like that. If you have unhealthy scratches, then they’re scratched regardless of the matchups or who you’d like to put out there. You just have to put your healthy guys out there. So, yes, the answer is yes.”

With the games being so close – obviously all of the losses being under six points – how much are penalties killing this team a little bit? I believe against Cleveland it was 12 penalties for 98 yards, and we’ve seen that quite a few times this season. (Matthew Stevens) “It’s not helpful. We’re not advocating penalties. It’s not something that we want to see. The ones that were most hurtful were the offsides, where we lined up in the neutral zone, twice in the same drive. That was unfathomable. But as far as coaching penalties, you look at them one penalty at a time and you try to coach through them. Some of them are the cost of doing business, some of them are tough, technique penalties, and some of them are inexcusable penalties. We look at all of them.”

Coach, your thoughts on the 49ers? They still have some of the key ingredients with QB Colin Kaepernick leading the way and a couple of other guys. They’ve had a number of guys retire, but now they have Torrey Smith, Anquan Boldin – they’re 1-4 like you guys, though. What are you seeing from them? (Jerry Coleman) “Yes, the 49ers are very talented and obviously a very proud team. You start with their defense, they have a heck of a front. I love their tackles. They have two pass rushers; [Ahmad] Brooks and [Aaron] Lynch have done a really nice job for them. [NaVorro] Bowman is back. They have [Michael] Wilhoite playing inside there doing a nice job. [Eric] Reid is a young safety. You have a veteran safety back there in [Antoine] Bethea. Good young corners. To me, it looks like a 49ers’ defense. That’s an impressive group. Kaepernick remains the same; he’s a threat [and] played well last night. They’re trying to find what he does well with the guys around him now, and they’re starting to find their way that way a little bit. Obviously, they have a great back in Carlos Hyde, three really good tight ends and the receivers that you talked about – guys that we know well. It’s a dangerous group. It’s going to be a big challenge, but we’re up for it, and we have to go take care of business.”

John, with the 49ers, of course you had a pretty big game with them a couple years ago. Is there any point where any memories of that game come back – and I know you’ve got a challenge ahead of you – but do you think about one of the greatest games that you’ve had in your life because you’re playing that same team? (Jamison Hensley) “Not really. It really doesn’t cross your mind. It’s a new challenge, new team, new year. That’s what you focus on.”

John, I know what you said about injuries – and I apologize if this is out of line – but do you have any insight on RB Justin Forsett? Is it an ankle? High ankle, low ankle? (David Ginsburg) “It’s not a high ankle, I can tell you that. So, that’s a good sign, and it gives him a chance, certainly, for this week.”

S Terrence Brooks got pressed into that fifth defensive back role. He said he doesn’t see much of a difference between playing there and playing a regular safety role. What makes him suited, in your mind, to play that spot where he was yesterday? (Jon Meoli) “Terrence is a football player. He’s fast, he’s a very good blitzzer, he plays the run well and he’s probably likening it to a strong safety-type position in base defense, and there are some similarities there. I think that’s why he’s comfortable in there. Obviously, he can continue to improve; I’m sure he’d be the first to tell you that. But he has some skills, speed, toughness, he plays in the box well as a box safety, and that fits that role to some degree.”

WR Steve Smith Sr., he was listed as doubtful on the injury report, but did that come down to a game-time decision on Sunday? Was there a chance for him? (Jerry Coleman) “There’s always a chance with Steve Smith. Always. Never rule Steve Smith out.”

Do you expect him to practice fully this week? (Jerry Coleman) “We’ll see. I don’t know. He was in here training hard, so that’s a good sign. I’m hopeful.”
